

Testimonial to ETD Senior Home Care

"We stopped worrying when she moved in". So said my husband after 6 1/2 years of Mom's residence at ETD Senior Home Care in Bellevue.

Mom had been living on her own until age 94, when she fell, and on doctors' orders was destined for a move out of her home. After visiting two other senior care establishments, it was easy to choose ETD, where the residents are treated like members of a large happy family.

Olivia and Marinell Iliuc have been in the business of caring for the elderly for 25 years, and they are extremely knowledgeable. They are loving as well as quite strict about rules—particularly important in this era of the pandemic. Their children, Megan and Nathan, are very much a part of the family of residents, and are kind and caring and fun. The family theme was very evident before the virus, when there were frequent get-togethers for residents' families, and even a 100th birthday party for Mom.

Residents and the home itself are always clean and tidy. The home is well designed, providing for a spacious living area for residents, and a separate upstairs living area for the Iliucs. Mom was always dressed well when I came to visit, and her hair nicely styled. Haircuts, manicures and pedicures were attended to when needed. It was clear that everyone in residence was dressed and coifed daily. The Iliucs are well known in the elder community and look after doctor appointments and tests carefully.

When Mom moved to hospice care I was made aware of how much she loved Olivia by the way her face lit up when Olivia entered her room. I can think of no better testimonial.
